"From Black Power to Barack Obama: Rethinking the Long Civil Rights Movement"

Hailed as one of “the most exciting scholars of his generation,” Dr. Williams is the Chief Historian and Vice President for Public Education and Community Outreach at the Jackie Robinson Foundation in New York City. He is the author of Black Politics/White Power: Civil Rights Black Power and Black Panthers in New Haven (Blackwell, 2006).

Wednesday, February 16, 7:30 p.m.
Logan Auditorium
FREE ADMISSION

For more information, call (610)399-2365.

Dr. William's appearance is sponsored by Strengthening Historically Black Colleges and Universities (Title III).
Dr. Yohuru Williams is Associate Professor of History at Fairfield University, the Chief Historian for the Jackie Robinson Museum, and the Vice-President for Community Education and Public Outreach at the Jackie Robinson Foundation. He received his Ph.D. from Howard University in 1998. In 2009 he was named one of Diverse Issues in Higher Education’s top Emerging Scholars for 2009.

Dr. Williams's scholarly articles have appeared in The OAH Magazine of History, the Black Scholar, The Journal of Black Studies, the American Bar Association’s Insights on Law and Society, Pennsylvania History, Delaware History and the Black History Bulletin. Dr. Williams is also presently finishing up a single authored book entitled Six Degrees of Segregation: Lynching, Capital Punishment and Jim Crow Justice 1865-1930.