

WOMEN CULTIVATING WOMEN (WCW)

<http://www.womencultivatingwomen.com>

“Self Awareness, Education, Empowerment, Diversity”

In existence since January 2007 with a mission to strengthen intergenerational relationships among women and empower girls from various socio-economic and ethnic backgrounds on social and gender specific topics.

Press Release

Approved for immediate release effective March 8, 2010

Co-Founder, Angela McIver at (215) 779-2318

Email: am5268@aol.com

website: www.womencultivatingwomen.com

Monday, March 8, 2010

Women Cultivating Women (WCW) is pleased to announce its 4th Annual Award Ceremony on Saturday, March 27th from 10am to 2pm at Cheyney University of Pennsylvania, Cheyney, PA. This spirited, FREE EVENT will feature dynamic speakers, entertainment, and tasty food for all young and adult women.

This year's theme is: “Words of Wisdom: Helping Young Women to Understand the Impact of the Decisions They Make in Their Life.”

Goal of this forum is to honor the tireless works of amazing women who are unsung heroines and offer critical advice and words of wisdom to young women who are faced with many hard challenges and life's daily decision.

Among those being honored during the 4th Annual WCW 2010 Award Ceremony are as follows:

- 1. Dr. Michelle R. Howard-Vital, President of Cheyney University of Pennsylvania
AWARD: Mary McLeod Bethune Award
- 2. Honorable Lori Dumas Brooks, Judge of Philadelphia's Court of Common Pleas
AWARD: Juvenile Justice Award
- 3. Lady B, Philadelphia Radio Personality (WRNB 107.9 FM)
AWARD: Music Pioneer
- 4. MoShay LaRen, Philadelphia Radio Personality (WRNB 107.9 FM)
AWARD: Empowerment Award
- 5. Gwen Ragsdale, Co-owner of Black Holocaust Museum of Slavery
AWARD: Historian Award

Since WCW's inception in 2007, women from southeastern Pennsylvania have been selected and honored at our annual awards ceremony that recognizes the work of highly visible females in the region for the purpose of positive reinforcement and elevating young girls to become productive citizens able to identify their purpose in life and reach their full potential.